Hello,

The current folder contains three files, corresponding to the experimental data shown in Fig. 4 of the paper.

The folder "SLAF" contains the source code files for generating adversarial examples of untargeted attacks using the salient feature perturbation strategy.

The folder "evaluation metrics" contains the code files for evaluating the adversarial examples generated by the salient feature perturbation strategy.

The folder "experimental images" stores the original input images.